. . locking keys that enable use of those tokens. The VAG token can be used to unlock SFD-protected modules on an Any Logix modular computer. In the . . prototype SFD verification mode is part of the verification process and the SFD-protected module is deemed to be verified as long as no single error is reported. In this mode, the programming interface for the SFD function is restricted to allow only certain functions (e.g. read only operations and I/O handling). The above SFD references to a VAG is a reference to the VAG tokens as described in the above. . . thesis. Ross-Tech can supply the SFD/UDAV combo lock, but this is a $13000 US fixed-price order, which will require fulfillment as a sole source order. This article was written by Eric
